

Alameda County Public Health Emergency Preparedness Sponsors a Special Training in May 2015 on Building a Culture of Preparedness at Your Organization

Join us for this special training that will help you integrate emergency preparedness activities into whatever happens regularly at your organization – making it everyone’s responsibility and making it fun. Learn how to leverage the talents of all your wonderful staff and volunteers, how to incorporate simple techniques into everyday activities and how to leverage your interorganizational relationships for disaster preparedness and response.

Participating organizations will receive a ready-to-use simple tool that can be immediately incorporate by the staff and volunteers at your facility!
