Comprehensive Perinatal Services Program (CPSP)

Pregnant women who are eligible for Medi-Cal can enroll in CPSP, which includes prenatal medical care, plus

- health education
- nutrition education
- support for issues like jobs, emotions, relationships, housing, or other

These services can be provided by health educators, nurses, social workers, nutritionists, health workers, etc.

Research shows that these services

- decrease low birthweight
- improve the outcome of the pregnancy
- give babies a healthy start in life
- lower health care costs by preventing illness in infants

Presumptive Eligibility

Pregnant women and teens can go to these clinics and receive temporary Medi-Cal that same day for prenatal care. The patient must then apply for Medi-Cal. No one is excluded based on immigration status.

While waiting for the reply from Medi-Cal, the clinic visits will be paid for by Medi-Cal.

Services can include

- Pregnancy tests
- Prenatal care
- Abortion and counseling
